Beschreibung

Beschreibung	The reformed church is a late Gothic building located in a dominant position at the foot of the former castle hill. First mentioned in 1132, the new building was erected around 1510. In 1907 a renovation took place, followed by restoration in 1976. The church has a nave with reinforced ribs and a three-sided closed choir, the tower at the north-east corner of the nave is stepped back from the choir and was probably raised in the 18th century and topped with a pointed bell tower. Under the rose window of the eastern choir wall is a pointed Gothic Christophorus relief and an Austrian coat of arms. The nave has parts of a Gothic masonry and a ribbed vault, the choir has a star vault. Next to the door to the former castle church there is a late Gothic sacrament niche with lattice doors. The wooden pulpit dates from 1656.
